

The New Territory Magazine is a 501(c)3 nonprofit made possible by our readers. Each year, we deeply value your attention, kind words, print subscriptions, donations, volunteering, attendance at readings, and other support. You're doing this with us!

-Tina Casagrand Foss,
Founder and Executive Director
The New Territory Magazine

WHAT IT MEANS for our Lower Midwest community

"The New Territory was a natural, and instrumental, partner partner for our En Plein Air Micro Essay workshop."

Mark Livengood,
Director, The Story Center

"Place matters to the way people live their lives, and it's important to give humans space to tell their stories—otherwise it's easy for places and people to calcify into stereotypes."

Andy Oler,
Editor, Lingering Inland

"Regional writing sheds ugly monikers and allows us to return to each other without shame or restlessness."

Callie Arnold,
2025-26 Editorial Fellow,
The New Territory

HOW WE MAKE IT: our publishing, programs and partnerships

Columbia, MO 65205

53 Midwestern writers
and artists published.

14 writers showcased in public events.

2 special publications made with local communities.

Bylines from contributors associated with The NT's focal area

"I love reading and supporting local publications. Growing up in rural Arkansas, I feel deeply connected to the land, and I want to find other writers rooted in that sense of place."
